Talks Aimed At Ending Bickering

German, British Leaders Meeting

LONDON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today begin three days of talks aimed at ending a year of bickering between their countries.

Both leaders expressed confidence the meeting will lead to an era of harmonious British-German relations.

"Germany is our joint partner and ally," Macmillan said Monday night at a London banquet. "Our aim is the widest and most fruitful association of European countries."

Adenauer said last month he was optimistic that the talks would bring the two nations "into full unity and harmony."

Topics expected to dominate the conference—in addition to British-German relations—are the proposed summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and possible trade rivalry in Europe between the British-led group known as the "Outer Seven" and the six-nation Common Market that includes West Germany.

Relations between the British and West German governments reached a postwar low early this year.

British newspapers, and officials privately, charged Adenauer with being stubbornly inflexible and trying to block Macmillan's efforts to improve relations between the West and the Soviet Union. There was also talk that Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle were ganging up on Britain in an effort to reduce her influence on the European continent.

Officials in Bonn were highly critical of the British, accusing Macmillan of going soft toward the Soviets and being willing to abandon West Berlin and the long-standing allied aim of German reunification. Adenauer even publicly accused British officials of inspiring an anti-German campaign in the British press.

Books Issued to Exceed 100,000

Circulation Record To Be Set by Library

More than 100,000 books — an all-time record — will be checked out of the Public Library if the present borrowing rate continues, librarian James Hafer reports.

And the library is almost a sure bet to push past the 100,000 mark during the first 10 months of 1959, the library staff issued 91,529 books at the library and through its program at two schools.

If readers keep up their pace during the final two months of the year, at least 18,000 more books will be added to the circulation tabulations. If more books than that pass over the check out desk, a new record for annual increase may also be set, Hafer asserts.

Largest increase recorded during Hafer's tenure here as librarian was 9,693 set in 1955 when circulation was hiked from 75,675 in 1954 to 85,368. By the 10-month mark this year, circulation had increased 9,244.

The number of books issued by the library has been increasing constantly, although the rate faltered during the two years the building was undergoing extensive remodeling.

A glance at the circulation figures shows:

1954 — circulation at 75,675, a gain of 9,408.

1955 — 85,368, up 9,693.

1956 — 87,232, up 1,864 (remodeling).

1957 — 90,627, up 3,395 (remodeling).

1958 — 99,770, up 9,143.

What has caused the constant increase in book circulation among a generation of people reportedly addicted to TV?

Hafer laughingly gave the reason as: "good books and people who are getting smarter."

The books are definitely getting better, he said. The library staff is constantly examining the book shelves to see what type of books are needed and how the volumes on hand are moving. The library per-

Blast Believed Cause of Crash

9 Bodies Recovered From Plane's Wreck

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Was there an explosion aboard the National Airlines DC7B liner that crashed in the Gulf of Mexico Monday with 42 persons aboard? If there was, did it come before or after the crash?

Members of the party hunting in the shark-infested waters for bodies believe there was an explosion. But they don't agree on when it occurred. There apparently were no survivors among the 36 passengers and 6 crew members to supply the answers.

Lt. James L. Sigman, executive officer of the Coast Guard air detachment at New Orleans, said the wreckage was spread over a comparatively small area of two to three miles. This indicated to him, he said, that the explosion came after the plane hit the water.

But two Air Force fliers who spent four hours over the scene said because the wreckage was so scattered it seemed to them the plane exploded in the air.

The two were Capt. Raymond M. Griswold, pilot of an SA16 Albatross amphibian search and rescue plane, and Capt. Peter Palazzolo, the navigator.

"If the plane had been in a large piece or pieces when she

Countdown Held for Station Wagon Theft

LISBON — A 23-year-old Salineville man was bound over to the January Grand Jury Monday for stealing a motor vehicle and operating it without the owner's consent.

Gerald Edevard Raffle of Salineville was bound over by County Judge James L. MacDonald under $1000 bond.

The charges were filed by John Margraf of Salineville, owner of the 1951 station wagon taken by Raffle Sunday at 4 a.m. Police said Raffle drove the vehicle to Gavers where it broke down. He then walked to the Lisbon police station and admitted the theft.

Raffle said he intended to drive the car to Glenn Falls, N.Y. where he is employed.

5 Teen-Agers Drown As Car Goes Into Lake

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP)—Five teen-agers drowned Monday night when a car missed a turn at an intersection and plunged into a slough. A companion clawed his way to safety.

Francis Hughes, 16, told officers he didn't know how he escaped from the overturned car which landed in about 20 feet of water after sailing off a 25-foot cliff. He climbed the bank and flagged down a passing truck.

Skiddivers managed to get a line on the vehicle hours later and rescue crews pulled it to the surface. Two bodies were found inside. Three others were recovered in dragging operations.

Hughes identified his companions as Doug Randolph, 17, driver of the car; Jerry Walston, 15; Floyd Walston, 13; Bill Webster, 16; and Dick Webster, 13. All were from Longview.

Stiff Northerly Winds Rip Into Middle West

Record Low Marks Reported from Texas To Great Lakes Area

By The Associated Press
Stiff northerly winds fanned arctic air across the nation's mid-section today, dropping temperatures to record low marks for the date from the Great Lakes region to northern Texas.

It was nearly freezing as far south as San Antonio, Tex., and Amarillo, Tex., shivered in 14 above temperatures. The mercury edged toward the zero mark at Chicago and Milwaukee and it was below zero at Minneapolis. The cold Canadian air headed into the East and dipped southward toward the Gulf.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago in a special bulletin this morning posted cold wave warnings for New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, with freezing conditions likely in many of the Gulf and southeastern states tonight.

Near or zero weather was the rule in most of the north central region while readings of 5 to 10 below were the rule in the Dakotas and northwestern Nebraska. The icy weather was expected to continue today with some moderation Wednesday.

Montana reported a warming trend, but it still was the coldest part of the country. Temperatures were as low as 10 to 20 degrees below zero in many places.

No heavy snow was reported in the cold belt but snow flurries were indicated in the Great Lakes region. Strong winds caused much drifting of snow on the ground in some northern areas.

President Sets Sights on Space In '61 Budget

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower set his sights today on space and the budget to finance its exploration.

He proceeded to discuss with Administrator T. Keith Glennan the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's requests for more money starting next July 1.

NASA is the civilian agency with full responsibility—the military no longer has any—for perfecting huge space rockets.

One NASA project is Saturn. The goal: A booster rocket with 1½ million pounds of thrust. This would double the push which sent a Soviet rocket around the moon and it would be a big step toward getting a manned rocket aloft.

Congress already has put 104 million dollars for Saturn.

For the current fiscal year Congress set aside $500,575,000 for all civilian space activities. The figure appears likely to go up, although some of the increase might be only on paper.

Space operations still would claim only a comparatively small part of the total budget. The mil-

Four Injured; 15 Cars Derailed

2 Freight Trains Ram At Wauseon; 1 Killed

WAUSEON, Ohio (AP)—A west-bound freight train rammed head-on into an apparently stopped east-bound freight on the Wabash Railroad early today, killing one train crewman, injuring at least four others, demolishing the two locomotives and derailling 15 cars.

The westbound train, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol, was about midway on a run between Delta and Montpelier, Ohio, when it met the second train, reported bound from Montpelier to Toledo.

The crash scene was near the hamlets of Elmira and Burlington, about 10 miles northwest of here, close to Alternate Highway U.S. 20 and a short distance south of the Ohio Turnpike. The spot is in extreme northwestern Ohio,

County TB Rate High, Health League Is Told

Approximately 35 directors of the Columbiana County Public Health League attended the semi-annual dinner meeting Monday evening at Hotel Wick in Lisbon.

L. L. Taylor, executive director of the Stark County Tuberculosis and Health Association for the last 15 years, gave a flannel board talk on tuberculosis and declared "complacency" has no place in the tuberculosis association's program.

The meeting marked the opening of the league's 1959 Christmas Seal sale for $33,000.

TB is still the "No. 1 killer," surpassed only by accidents, heart disease and cancer, he said, and its economic implications are great, because the average age of victims is 47, compared to 68 for heart disease and 65 for cancer.

Statistics covering Columbiana County show for the period 1948-52, Columbiana County had 25 TB deaths and five new cases for every death. In the last five years (1954-58) deaths averaged nine per year and new cases 8.4 for each death.

"Your county has a remarkable record of case-finding," Taylor said, "and is among the top counties each year in the Christmas Seal sale."

He suggested that periodic surveys of prisoners in county jails would be helpful in locating unknown cases of tuberculosis.

He commended the Columbiana County Medical Society for its support of the League's newest service — distribution of diabetes test kits on request to persons visiting the chest X-ray cruiser.

Taylor's figures showed that Columbiana County's TB rate is 60 per 100,000 population compared to 36.6 for Ohio as a whole.

Richard Seidel of Hanoverton, league president, presided and appointed a nominating committee of E. S. Kerr of Salem; Paul H. Blair, East Liverpool; and Mrs. Walter Miller of Columbiana for the annual meeting in April.

Ike Tentatively Passes on 1961 Military Funds

Monies to Stay At Present Level Of $61 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — More missiles, less manpower is what emerges from the Eisenhower administration's 1961 military budget.

The President gave tentative approval to this concept Monday at Augusta, Ga., after a four-hour meeting with top Pentagon brass and government budget planners.

Spending will remain at about the present $41 billion dollars for the year starting next July 1.

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy said the Navy and Air Force had volunteered to cut their manpower requirements a little in 1961. To offset this loss they can look forward to more and better missiles and more atomic-powered submarines. A second nuclear-powered aircraft carrier for the Navy failed to get approval.

The Army and Marine Corps resisted pressures to cut their forces.

McElroy, foreshadowing the new shape of war in the missile age, said the nation must face some time in the future the question of calling back some of its troops overseas. No cut in these forces is in prospect for the next 18 months.

In concert with McElroy's thinking, the Air Force chief of staff Monday told the meeting of NATO parliamentarians here to expect cutbacks in conventional forces, including manned aircraft, in the future.

Gen. Thomas D. White told the NATO group other changes are in prospect, such as a rearrangement of military forces now in Europe and creating of a fast-striking combat unit based in the United States but ready for action anywhere.

White's views dovetailed with the forecast made by McElroy to newsmen in Augusta and on his return to Washington.

McElroy said the 1961 defense budget could be cleared with the National Security Council within 10 days and get Eisenhower's final approval before he takes off Dec. 3 for a good will mission to 11 nations.

Military manpower now is about 2½ million. Just where and how many will be pared was not disclosed.

Replies on Vote Machine Poll Flood Election Board

A flood of replies began arriving today at the County Election Board office in East Liverpool in a mail poll which was launched Monday to learn voters' sentiments on the use of voting machines on a trial basis at the November general election in Lisbon and East Palestine.

The secret ballots were sent to every person who voted in the two communities Nov. 3 — a total of 2,911, according to Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board. The board asked expressions of sentiment from 1,256 in Lisbon and 1,655 in East Palestine.

The voters received letters explaining the poll and asking them to mark an "X" in front of "yes" or "no" to the question: "Do you approve the use of voting machines in your area?"

The poll is secret, as voters were not asked to list their names or addresses. However, they were asked to show in which of the two communities they reside.

With the letters went return envelopes addressed to the board to speed completion of the poll. O'Hanlon said he hopes the poll will be complete in a week.

Urban-Farm Observance To Draw 150

More than 150 persons are expected to take part in Salem's first Urban-Farm Day program on Wednesday.

The observance, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce to promote better understanding between rural and city dwellers, will begin with a noon luncheon at the Memorial Building, with Chamber members picking up the tab, Ronald Leigh, executive secretary of the Chamber, reports.

Master of ceremonies will be Elden Groves, farm publication editor.

Speakers, who will discuss the problems facing cities today, will be Floyd Lower, county agriculture extension agent; Walter F. Deming, president of the Deming Co.; Archie Bricker, president of Salem Area Industrial Development Corp.; Robert McCulloch Jr., president of Salem Parking Inc.; and Leigh.

Among the topics to be discussed will be the industrial future of the present factories in Salem, the possibilities of future industries and downtown parking problems facing all cities.

After lunch, the rural visitors and their Chamber hosts will tour the Deming Co. They will, if the weather is good, be transported by farm tractors and wagons through the business district from the Memorial Building to the internationally known pump company.

Leigh said tickets for the dinner aren't required. Chamber members will need only to register at the luncheon.

Next year the Chamber is hoping the urban dwellers will be invited out to the farms for a day to study the problems facing the farmers so that better understanding between the two groups may be achieved.

New York Governor Still Undecided

Rockefeller Buoyed by 4-Day Tour of West

Editor's note: Continuing on-the-spot coverage of presidential hopefuls by The Associated Press, Pulitzer Prize-winner Relman Morin sizes up Nelson A. Rockefeller's position after covering the governor's Far West swing.

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Is Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller going to take the big plunge for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination?

He says he hasn't made up his mind.

But he returned to New York Monday from a four-day swing through the Far West, obviously buoyed by what he found there. As a result, he looks much more like a potential candidate today than he did a week ago.

Information he received on the trip has given him a new insight into the political picture in the West.

Rockefeller spent two days in Vice President Richard M. Nixon's home state, California, and one in Oregon, where Nixon appears equally as strong. He stopped briefly in Washington and Idaho. In California and Oregon, the governor expected to find, and did find, blocs of Nixon backers as solid as anywhere in the United States.

But people close to him say he also found a certain amount of uneasiness among West Coast Republicans as to whether Nixon, if nominated, could win the election next year.

Rockefeller won't discuss that. Conforming to political tradition, he merely says, "Whoever the Republicans nominate will be elected."

In the West, he made a number of speeches. Sprinkled through the audiences, except at the strictly Republican party shindigs, were numerous people who identified themselves as Democrats and independents.

Some said they liked him. Some were noncommittal.

He tried hard to erase any image of himself as a political glamor boy, equipped only with charm and good looks.

He says he doesn't believe the Republican nomination is in anybody's pocket.

"I haven't seen any evidence of what I presume you would call political commitments," he said. "I would assume that the delegates would not put their votes today in an envelope and seal them and then just take them out on the day of the convention."

He indicates now that his next move will be a foray into the Midwest, probably in late December. It may take him into Wisconsin, scene of one of the nation's most important weather-vane primary elections.

Rockefeller says he is going to spell out his views on the problem of agriculture. Either Wisconsin or Minnesota could be the arena for this speech.

Then, sometime in January or early February, he says he will announce his decision on trying for the nomination.

At the moment, he appears to be edging toward the plunge.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A strike by hostesses against Trans World Airlines is scheduled for 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Negotiations remained deadlocked today in a dispute over wages and hours for hostesses on jet aircraft.

Details of the dispute were not revealed. Current wage scales were not available.

He will return to Johns Hopkins for a check-up later this month.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

People Have Blood Pressure on the Brain

These days, almost everyone you meet seems to have blood pressure on the brain. Those with low blood pressure think they've "poor circulation" or a "weak heart." Those with high blood pressure live in fear of a stroke, a coronary attack or loss of vision.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

Actually, these fears have little basis in fact. Most persons with pressure readings that are below the statistical average have levels that are their particular normal. A Hall of Fame baseball player of a generation ago never had a level of 100 through-out his long and fiery career. Other hypotensive persons with low pressure are merely suffering from fatigue or overwork and their levels rise to the normal range as soon as they've rested.

RARELY DOES hypotension indicate the presence of some serious underlying condition. Even less often is it wise to try to raise blood pressure without first making an attack on the basic condition that's responsible for the lowered level.

But it's hypertension (high pressure) — notice the difference in spelling — that people worry most about. Particularly men in highly responsible positions and overweight women who are nearing the menopause or who have already passed through this stage in their lives.

NOW, IF you've gotten a high pressure reading, especially from a strange doctor like an insurance examiner or a physician at an induction center, here's what you might do to find out if your health and life are endangered by this finding:

1. Check with your family doctor. Make sure the reading is not a false reading due to a natural feeling of tension when you're examined by a stranger.

2. Have your doctor compare his own reading with his earlier readings. Maybe the level that's above the statistical average is normal for you and members of your family who are built like you.

3. If your level has risen, ask for a complete examination to include a heart tracing, chest X-ray and tests of kidney function.

4. If a basic explanation is found for the rising level of your blood pressure, you are in need of intensive treatment directed to the cause of your symptomatic hypertension.

5. If there is no evidence of any basic disturbance and your blood pressure tends to fluctuate widely, you are probably in the largest group of hypertensive patients whose blood pressure elevation is called "essential" for want of a better name.

In another column, I shall try to tell you what you can do to help stabilize an essential hypertension.

Will of Druggist's Widow Is Upheld

CLEVELAND (AP) — A common pleas jury which was out for three days following a four-week hearing has upheld the $2,400,000 will of Mrs. Grace L. Roseman, whose late husband founded the Standard Drug Co. Three relatives of Mrs. Roseman's husband, Charles, had sought to invalidate the will on grounds that Mrs. Roseman was influenced unduly by Robert W. Campbell, an attorney who now is Standard Drug president and who was a college mate of Mrs. Roseman's son, Charles. The son was killed in an automobile accident in 1952. The three plaintiffs were Paul Roseman and Byron Austin, both of Massillon, and Mrs. Emma D. Sullivan of Cleveland.

He asked for a new trial in the county—Portage—where the slayings took place. Lower courts ruled that the 1958 trial in Summit County was proper.

Nashville Shipment Seized

Only 80,000 Pounds of Cranberries Contaminated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the 3 1/3 million pounds of cranberries tested so far, 80,000 pounds have shown traces of a weed killer that causes cancer in rats.

Those statistics came from Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming Monday night. But at the same time he announced action had been started to seize 25 tainted cases of canned cranberries grown in Wisconsin and shipped to Nashville, Tenn.

"The great majority of the tests for the weed killer has shown no contamination," Flemming said. "This is encouraging, and a trend that I hope continues as the testing proceeds."

Flemming is meeting with cranberry industry leaders Wednesday. He said he is extremely hopeful the growers can come up with a plan to make it possible "to segregate contaminated from uncontaminated berries on a large scale than is now possible through laboratory testing lot."

Already, he said, Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., has voluntarily withdrawn several million pounds of berries from the market to await analysis by government chemists. Ocean Spray is a cooperative of growers that handles 75 per cent of the nation's cranberry crop.

The Nashville shipment was the second batch of Wisconsin cranberries found to contain the weed killer, aminotriazole. Previously, the only tainted berries found were grown in Washington and Oregon.

Food and Drug Administration officials said the shipment of 600 pounds to Nashville was made by a Chicago wholesaler whom they didn't identify. Samples were tested at a government laboratory at Cincinnati and found to be contaminated.

The Illinois agriculture director, Stillman J. Stannard, has banned sale of cranberries in that state until further notice. He said most of the berries used in Illinois come from Wisconsin and he had been informed that 25 per cent of the Wisconsin crop had been exposed to aminotriazole.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health reported Monday that cranberries from that state are free of contamination. Massachusetts grows nearly half of the total output.

Estimates of the amount of land seized now reach into the millions of acres. Most of it so far is in cattle-rich Camaguey and Oriente provinces, and in Pinar del Rio, where most of Cuba's fine tobacco is grown. Most sugar estates are being left alone for the present—so as not to reduce the next harvest.

Cuban lawyers representing the landowners say appeals to points of law with agents of the government's powerful Institute of Agrarian Reform (INRA) frequently bring the reply "What law? We are the law."

Files of the United States Embassy are rapidly filling with reports of cases in which Castro agents—usually bearded military armed soldiers—moved in and seized equipment, cattle and buildings.

The agrarian reform law provides for expropriation of land for distribution among the landless but contains no provision for seizure of agricultural machinery, other equipment or livestock.

"So-called agrarian institute delegates pay no attention to this law when they intervene in properties," said one Cuban lawyer.

"They just take over and all our efforts to find out under what decree or law they are acting are futile."

FBI Enters Case Of Runaway Engine

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The Jersey Central Railroad says its runaway locomotive may have been sent off deliberately by some one trying to sabotage the line.

The FBI also said it had entered the case to determine if there had been any violation of a federal train wreck statute.

A Central spokesman said Monday "It looks like some one maliciously sent the engine off. Its extremely unlikely the engine could get going by itself."

The 123-ton diesel-electric engine slid out of the Central yard in Jersey City Thursday night with no one aboard and highballed 22 miles down the tracks toward the Jersey shore before it was intercepted.

An engineer mounted a second locomotive in Perth Amboy, dashed ahead of the runaway

Salt Spray May Cause Blight on Lake Erie Shore

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Salt spray may be causing damage to soil and leaves along the Lake Erie shore in Headlands State Beach Park and Mentor Marsh, a wildlife habitat.

How could that be, since everyone knows Lake Erie is a freshwater lake?

Well, the spray is dust that comes from the landward side when crushed salt is dumped into stockpiles on trucks from a conveyor belt at the New Fairport Harbor mine of the Morton Salt Co.

"We are fearful the whole lake-front will be blighted in time, if something isn't done," said Mrs. Robert S. Forbes, president of the Mentor Headland Garden Club, one of a number of complainants.

John C. Cooper, manager of the 123-acre state park, said foliage has been injured and "we're genuinely concerned about this. We certainly don't want rows of dead sticks here next summer where there had been trees."

The manager of the salt mine, R. G. Ganong, said it hasn't been determined yet that the loss of leaves was caused by salt in the air, and if that proved to be the case, the company would take steps to curb the windblown salt dust.

Age of Committees

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One test of a successful man today is how many committees he can serve on without shortening his life.

We live in an age of togetherness, and our lives are largely ruled by committee-made decisions.

To have an active social life today, you almost have to serve on a committee dedicated to one cause or another. Ones importance in the community often indeed is measured by the number of committees one serves on.

But committee work is a thing a fellow has to learn by personal experience whether he can take in stride or should leave strictly alone.

Serving on too many committees undoubtedly has killed by aggravation and overwork many men in their middle years who might otherwise have lived to a graceful and serene old age. They had become addicts. They didn't know how to handle it.

Haunting indeed are the sordid stories of those who tried to raise their social status by joining a committee, then found their lives ruined as one committee led to another, until finally there was no stopping.

Here is one man's story: "The neighborhood Assn. asked me to serve on a committee to improve the beach. I said yes. Then I joined a lodge and a church, and they both soon put me on committees.

"We were invited to a lot of parties, and it seemed like at each party they organized a new committee, and I was always asked to join, and I did. I joined a committee to get rid of covered bridges.

"I joined a committee to send books to the Hottentots, a committee to save the barn owl, and a committee to improve the railroad commuter service.

"I joined the mayors committee to bring new industry into town, and I joined another committee to keep the town zoned only for private homes.

"At the end of the first year I guess I must have been about the best known man in town, and they were even talking about running me for mayor. I was serving on 68 committees, and being invited to join new ones at the rate of one a week.

"I was getting three hours sleep a night, making an average of 37 phone calls a day from my office on committee work, and living on pep pills that turned me into a nervous wreck. I was completely neglecting my own family and my own job.

"Well, the whole thing collapsed last week. My boss fired me, my wife ran off with a man down the street, and my two children were sent to reform school as juvenile delinquents.

"Naturally, I thought my friends on all those committees would stand by me in my hour of need. But do you know what I found out? I found out that for every fair-weather friend you make by serving on committees, you make at least two all-weather enemies. "My neighbors now are organizing a committee to ask me to sell the house and move away as an undesirable member of the community. Its a funny thing. That's the only committee in town I haven't been asked to join."

Chest Drive Compliments City

The successful Community Chest campaign just concluded is a tribute to the people of Salem.

It's no easy task to raise $61,295—or any sizable fund, for that matter—and Salem can take its rightful place among the select group of cities which have gone over the top with their Chest drives.

The achievement resulted from the determination of campaign officials and the wholehearted participation of many organizations and individuals interested in maintaining the 11 essential local "red feather" agencies.

General Chairman Robert Oswald certainly earned his spurs in this campaign. Not once did he give up, laboring tirelessly and lending enthusiasm to team captains and co-workers.

It is hard to single out all of the campaign workers but they all deserve commendation. Seven of the 11 chest teams topped their individual goals.

Of major importance were increased contributions through wider acceptance of the payroll deduction plan, which offset losses because of industrial employment cutbacks. A number of smaller plants and businesses set up payroll deduction programs this time and if more will adopt the plan, the success of all chest drives in the future will be assured.

It could be the forerunner of one, big United Appeal, which would eliminate the duplicity of the many fund campaigns which confront the public month after month. The United Appeal should receive the serious consideration of the Community Chest Association.

Salem has given splendid evidence of its truly fine civic spirit, sometimes coming with basketball championships, with an outstanding high school football team, or a national championship band, and now with 100 per cent Community Chest Fund drive.

Salem certainly measures up to the standards which make a city above average.

Industrywide Shock Wave Felt

The slowing down of auto production as steel stocks dwindled was foreseen from the beginning of the steel strike in mid-July as the most serious effect of a prolonged deadlock.

Its seriousness grew out of the fact that auto-manufacturing in the United States has become as vital to the health of the nation's economy as steel-making, itself. Perhaps it is more important, in view of the great number of suppliers integrated in the nationwide complex of the auto industry.

This was one of the effects of the steel strike that had to be taken into consideration by the presidential fact-finding board in its report on the effect of the strike.

The industrywide bargaining power of United Steelworkers affected not only the companies that made steel but the companies that made automobiles and steel-using appliances. It affected construction. It affected railroads and the trucking industry.

And even more than the effect on the companies was the effect on the men and women whose wages depended on the sustained and profitable operation of the companies.

Steelworkers' policy became the policy of other unions, such as United Auto Workers. The fortunes of managers, stockholders, wage earners and salaried employees all were tied up to the decisions of the policy-makers of the union that dominated the steel industry.

THE SHOCK WAVE that originated in the steel deadlock finally has hit the auto industry with devastating force.

As of last Wednesday, every assembly line in the vast General Motors network of plants was silent at the beginning of a new production year.

Every person whose welfare is in any way related to General Motors auto production now is involved in the great steel strike of 1959. Thousands of people whose livelihood depends on sustained production to meet demand for other makes of automobiles are affected. Both Ford and Chrysler are slowed down by shortages of steel supplies.

The steel that could be made and distributed during the 80-day injunction that has put the steel industry back into introduction would not be enough to cushion this staggering impact on a related industry.

Resumption of the steel strike in mid-January would create still another shock wave that would hit steel consumers sometime in 1960.

THIS DEMONSTRATES what should not have to be demonstrated in the United States—that Americans depend on one another for their livelihood.

The men who have become responsible for the momentous decisions that can make or break the success of America's apparatus of production are not fooling with a horse-and-buggy civilization that could giddap or

Once Over

Safecrackers invaded a Florida golf club, seized the caretaker and fought it out with the police.

It was done at night, which was the wrong time. If they had been smart enough to do it in the daytime they would have been aided by the fact everybody on the premises would have been too busy arguing over score cards, concentrating on their putting problems, etc., to pay the least attention to anybody removing a safe under noses.

A dozen bandits could operate in a crowded golf club any day in the hours when nothing matters but a three-putt green or corrective measures for a "hook."

Those Florida safecrackers, if doing the job in broad daylight, could have yelled, "Fore!" as they asked the gangway to carry out the safe; and bawled out the golfers for not waving them through.

IF ANYBODY had been interested enough to ask, "Where are you going with that safe?" a casual reply, "I'm lifting it out of the ground under repair," or "We're two down at this hole and everything depends on what we do now."

Crime on the golf links seems startling until you realize that the way golfers have been playing the game has been a crime for generations.

There is a chance for a script called, "The Golf Links Stickup," in which a couple of bandits go along as caddies until the foreman is in a remote spot, preferably in deep woods. Then, when asked for the right club they say (maybe by note), "This is a stickup. Bend over the ball as if playing golf but hand over your wallet fast. If you make any outcry you'll be in serious trouble."

A golfer replies, "As a golfer I have been in serious trouble all my life, so your threat means nothing."

"Do as you're told or you'll never leave these woods," one bandit might say, getting the swift answer, "The way I am playing I will never leave 'em anyway."

We wonder what the Florida cracksmen gave as alibis for their defeat. We can fancy the leader of the foursome squawking, "I told you we should have kept our eye on the safe and not looked up," with his confederates yawning, "We was gripping too tight."

QUIZ CONTESTANTS continue to come up with curious excuses. One who participated in fixed shows four times justifies it with "What could I do? I was a poor kid trying to gain financial independence." This despite the fact he was around 29 years of age and a senior in New York City college at time! Does nobody major in honesty these days?

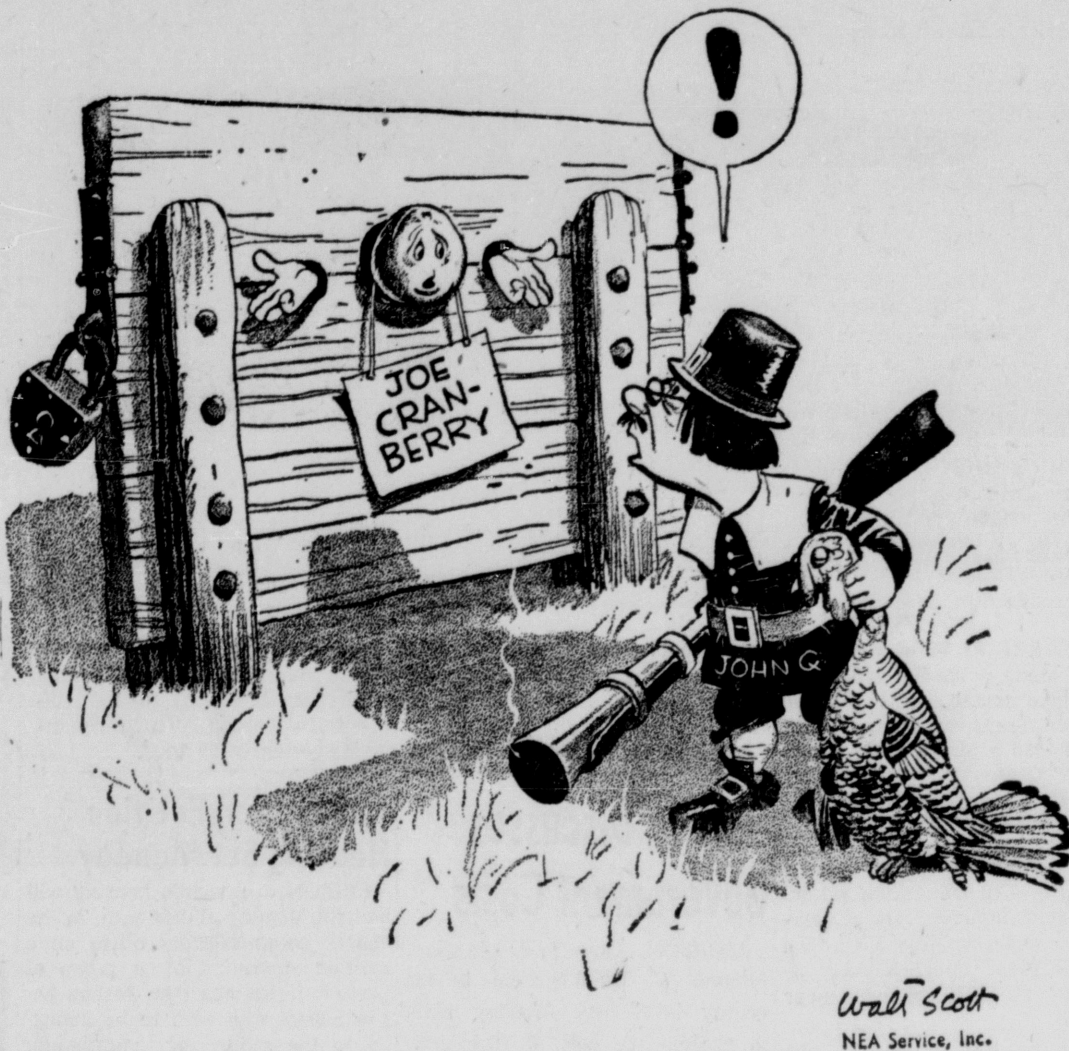

Will new show "The Highest Tree" be shown in branch theaters? And does it take a leaf out of real life?

Scandinavian Labor Plan

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The "Scandinavian Way" would prevent further brutal assaults on the general welfare of our people and the authority of our government by the AFL-CIO, but only at a written sacrifice of the last stone in the battered edifice of our Constitution. The Swedes and Norwegians do not understand because they know nothing about our Constitution.

Thus I recently found intelligent individuals gently impatient of our nihilism and anarchy under the American form of labor union.

I dismiss Denmark from these contemplations because, frankly, Denmark is a smug and fatuous parasite, like Switzerland. Neither of them could live an hour without the patronage of bigger nations with difficult problems such as ours.

We regard them as "cute" in the sense that children are cute. We approve their simple miniatures of nationality without troubling to try to reconcile their methods with our practical problems. Pretty detachments of clockwork soldiers in music-box uniforms execute ancient formations at guard-mount, but they both sat out both big wars, although Denmark was "occupied" by Germany.

IF WE WERE WILLING to abandon the Constitution outright, we, too, could create a legal super-government for labor affairs composed of rival unions of labor on one side of the table and of organized employers on the other. But a socialist government would sit at the head of the table, the protegee, creature and ally of the union side.

That, in brief but graphic form, would be the American adaptation of the "Scandinavian way."

It would be "ess wasteful of manhood and material than our system of turmoil under rackets and dictatorships. Sometimes, to stay in power, the labor party might whack the union agents by curtailing outrageous demands, thus appealing to the people over the heads of the AFL-CIO.

But the constant tendency would be socialistic with constant loss of personality, religious faith, Christian morality and integrity of the family. In Scandinavia, the state is everywhere, and man is more and more impersonal and massive as he loses individuality and privacy.

The employers' federations are very tough organizations. The industrialists soon saw that without organization they would be knocked off singly by massive unions. So the federation of employers has adopted, in its 60 years' life, rules as harsh as the rules of the teamsters or the musicians union here. The members pay dues according to the number of their employees, and other considerations. No fooling; no cheating.

IN RETURN they get a strong union which will close plants and even whole industries by lockouts, all under legal sanction of the labor court.

Oct of its enormous treasury, the federation pays benefits to companies which lose money by strikes. Employers who are ordered by the federation to lock out workers in a sympathetic strike against the great, overall job thrust, also get strike benefits from the federation. But all employers must obey the employers' union absolutely in all things.

This is an ingenious retaliation which in theory would have equalized the situation that has kept us in turmoil since 1935. It has tempting possibilities. But the temptation turns bitter when we consider the rapscallion corruption or the cynicism of a large proportion of our employers from the top layer to the greasiest hamburger joint.

And it is awe-inspiring to think of such terrible powers sitting under some federal judge, a communist perhaps, or a spiritual devotee of F. D. Roosevelt, deciding the fate of millions of Americans who do not even know that they have a stake in the proceeding, but legally must obey decrees wrought in such a smoke-filled room.

Ideal Political Tickets

By DAVID LAWRENCE

How Would 'Practical Politicians' Draw Slate?

What would be the ideal ticket for each of the two major parties in the 1960 campaign as it would be set up if the "practical politicians" really had their say? Here it is.

1. Richard M. Nixon for president and Nelson A. Rockefeller for vice president on the Republican ticket.

2. Adlai Stevenson for president and John F. Kennedy for vice president on the Democratic ticket.

The phrase "practical politicians" means the men and women of experience in the two major parties who pick most of the delegates to a convention and want to see on the ticket a combination of popular personalities with a strong following in various parts of the country.

They look also for potential vote-getting power on particular issues of national and international importance likely to be debated in the campaign.

Certain queries naturally arise when the names are grouped as above on the two tickets.

First, there is to be expected at once the comments, "Of course, likely that he would take second place," or "Kennedy doesn't want the vice presidency."

Obviously, while there is still a chance to be in the first spot, no prospective candidate for the presidency is willing to say now publicly that he would take second place. So this kind of question at present is academic.

IT BECOMES real only when each party has actually made its first choice and any chance of winning the presidential nomination for somebody else is gone. At that moment the question becomes concrete. It might be put to a wavering personality in this form: "Would you turn down the vice presidency when you are only a heartbeat away from the presidency if your own presidential candidate should win the election?"

Sen. Kennedy was willing to take second place on the Democratic ticket in 1956 and came within a few votes of winning the vice-presidential nomination.

Gov. Rockefeller is a young man who is relatively new in politics. By becoming the vice-presidential candidate, he would get a chance to campaign the country and win friends for a 1964 presidential nomination if the Republicans lose in 1960. Likewise, if the Republicans win in 1960, he would be catapulted into the vice presidency of the United States — a position of major influence not only in domestic but in foreign policy.

Only a little more than a year ago, he was not a political figure at all and was given only an outside chance of winning the governorship of New York.

THE ADVANTAGES to each part in the combination suggested above are numerous. Take the Republicans first: The Nixon experience in previous campaigns and his prestige in his present office have given him publicity that no other candidate has achieved. Besides, Nixon is certain to attract the conservatives, while Rockefeller is certain to attract the so-called "modern" Republicans, "liberals" and "independents" who are more like the Democrats of recent years than Republicans. Harmony is one of the necessary objectives of the Republican party in the 1960 campaign.

On the Democratic side, the religious issue which has been construed as a handicap by some observers can be turned into an advantage. For the objectors would be few toward a vice-presidential candidate of any religion, whereas some of those who vote for a man because of his religion would be attracted to the ticket when someone of their own religious persuasion is named on it.

There's the comment to be heard that "Stevenson can't win — he has been beaten twice," and that "Nixon can't win."

PRACTICAL POLITICIANS are not influenced to much by these objections. They rationalize the race next year as something different.

After all, Stevenson was running against like in both his tries and last time got the biggest Democratic vote in history.

As for Nixon, he has been twice elected vice president, and the polls today show him out in front of any Democrat.

Certainly if the combination suggested is named by each party, there will be no issue of "richman versus poor man." For each of the two suggested vice-presidential nominees — Rockefeller and Kennedy — are inheritors of wealth.

As for Stevenson and Nixon, they can each still display — for the cameras — shoes with holes in them.

Already one can hear the orators at the conventions proudly saying of the four men, respectively, that they come from "the great State of California" and "the great State of New York" and from "the great State of Illinois" and "the great State of Massachusetts."

But strangely enough, not one of the four is as yet an avowed candidate for anything — except maybe the headlines.

Mania of Goalism

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A brief review of American economic and political affairs after six weeks in Europe brings out contrasts and likenesses of considerable interest. My visits included cities in England, Ireland, Germany, and Italy.

Comparisons with American domestic affairs are pertinent so far as England and Germany are concerned. Italy and Ireland present very special situations.

While American politicians and economists have been offering prescriptions for beefing up the American economy in infinite variety, it will be useful to take as an example for comparison a speech by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in New York on the day of my return from abroad.

His theme was the means by which the United States could plan its development over the coming 10 years to provide prosperity for all, with world influence and freedom from boom and bust.

THE GOAL, according to the New York governor, should be an increase in our growth rate from 4 per cent to 5 or 6 per cent annually. This should be achieved by checking the trend toward fewer work hours per week, with full acceptance of automation, increased government benefits and social services and more foreign aid.

The rosy prospect, providing the production per worker can be increased by 3 per cent, would be an increase in the per capita income by 75 per cent with a cut in taxes of 15 per cent by 1970.

The Rockefeller plan as elaborated would also provide much more government — 50 per cent more so-called services.

The British and German governments stand not on speculation such as Rockefeller elaborates but on a decade of progress and increasing prosperity.

In the campaign which preceded the British general election, domestic affairs centered upon the very issues which Rockefeller raises. Labor party leader Gaitskell's prescription was, in fact, cut from the same pattern as that used by the New York governor — more production through more government spending and reckless promises of tax reductions.

For a while, the tide seemed to be running against the Conservatives. Then Prime Minister Macmillan bluntly announced that he was not going to engage in a contest of bidding with Gaitskell.

He stood on the record and the present well-being of the British people. In his last television appearance he rose to real statesmanship in an appeal to the pride and dignity of the British people. The result we now know.

In contrast, the Rockefeller appeal has, surprisingly enough, no idealism. It is a bid to the appetites and pocketbooks.

IN CONTRAST to Rockefeller, the German minister of economic affairs, Ludwig Erhard, who has by fairly common consent been the since 1948, rejects any specific goal. His statistics concern the past 10 years, not the probabilities of the next 10 years. In his rejection of the concept of planning, quite a novelty in German affairs, he stands by two concepts.

The first is that the government has maintained and will maintain a stable currency; second, incentives rather than exhortation and legal coercion are used to lift the produce per worker. The record proves the wisdom of his simple philosophy.

He might even argue the accuracy of the Rockefeller statement that the United States has "the most dynamic economic system yet devised."

Surely, we have been "the most dynamic" in the past. But considering where Germany was when Erhard took office, its rate of growth and its present strength suggest a dynamic quality that no such prescription as Rockefeller proposes can produce.

Neighboring Towns Lend Aid

Blast Hits Minnesota City's Power and Heat

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (AP)—No one panicked. When it was all over, the 9,500 people of this southwestern Minnesota town acknowledged they had friends.

Within minutes after an explosion ripped out all the city's power and much of its heat, in sub-zero weather, offers of help began to roll in.

Portable generators were rushed from neighboring towns and set up at nursing homes, the city's three water wells and some school. Even a greenhouse got one.

The municipal hospital switched to its own power units and was not affected. Repair crews quickly provided power for the Southwestern Minnesota Crippled Children's Hospital-School.

Civil Defense Director Ray Schisler said "We needed all the help we got and we got it before we could ask."

The power was lost at 9:40 a.m. Monday when an explosion ripped wires between plant turbines and the distribution system.

Capt. Henry Fauskee of the National Guard turned in the alarm after a manhole a block from the power plant blew up in front of him.

Fauskee never made it home from the police station. Gov. Orville Freeman ordered out the local Guard unit after he had been advised of the situation. Six patrols of 50 guardsmen roamed the darkened streets to check possible pillaging and fires.

There were no serious casualties but two power plant workmen—John T. Anderson and Gerald Post—received flash burns about the face and arms and were taken to the hospital.

With repair crews working through the day and most of the night, complete power was returned early this morning.

Emergency quarters set up for chilled residents at the armory, an elementary school and two churches attracted only a few persons.

Many residents crowded into five outlying motels and a downtown hotel, served by steam heat.

The dead man who reportedly was pinched under a wheel in the wreck, was identified as W. C. Meek, of Danville, Ill., brakeman on the westbound freight.

Authorities at Detweiler Hospital in Wausau, where the injured were taken, identified them as: George E. Lamb, engineer; Chester E. Mooney, 48, fireman, and O. R. (Bud) Hodson, 35, brakeman, all of Peru, Ind., and Robert Christie, 33, engineer, of Toledo, Ohio.

A Wabash Railroad spokesman at Montpelier said that Christie was in the locomotive of the east-bound train while the three other injury victims and Meek were on the westbound. Christie's outfit was the line's No. 78, he said, headed from Montpelier to Toledo. The other train, he explained, was en route from Delta to Montpelier, between which points it regularly shuttles.

The crash occurred on a single track line, he said, adding that the railroad has not learned yet how both trains found themselves in the same place at the same time.

Engineer Lamb, from his hospital bed, gave his age as 73, investigators said.

Arms-Laden Truck Found In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 20-ton truck loaded with machine guns, rifles, ammunition and other armaments turned up on an East Cleveland street yesterday.

Police, who had stopped the truck to check on possible overloading, were still trying to find out today who was shipping the arms and why.

The driver, Ronald Mabee, 45, of Spartan, N. J., told East Cleveland police he saw the guns loaded on the truck at Oconomowoc, Wis., and was told they were antiques.

One of the "antiques" was a 50-caliber anti-aircraft machine gun mounted on an electrically operated revolving platform. One unofficial estimate was that the gun was worth $100,000.

East Cleveland Police Lt. Thomas O'Brien quoted Mabee as saying the guns were shipped by the DaTall Co. of Oconomowoc to the Service Armament Co. in Bogota, N. J. Mabee said he had forgotten to get a bill of lading, O'Brien said.

In Oconomowoc, Sgt. Charles Race of the Waukesha County sheriff's department said DaTall is located on the property of David Tallmadge, Oconomowoc socialite now undergoing a mental examination at Wisconsin's Central State Hospital for the criminal insane at Waupun.

Two patrolmen making a routine check on overweight trucks stopped the big truck and checked it on their portable scale. They said the truck was 8,180 pounds overweight on its No. 2 axles.

They said Mabee's answers to questions were evasive and when they asked him to open the truck he said it was sealed.

The patrolmen looked for themselves, saw that it was not sealed and opened the back.

They found a new Vickers machine gun in one crate, a 45-caliber machine gun in another and several incomplete .30-caliber machine gun.

In addition, there were boxes of rifles, telescope sights, signal pistols, bayonets, .30-caliber ammunition, ammunition belts and slings and other weapons.

East Cleveland Police Chief Horace S. Weaver notified the FBI, and agents sealed the truck pending further investigation. Mabee was held for questioning.

Judge Denies Lifting of Ban On Art Film

CLEVELAND (AP)—A county judge has rejected an injunction to lift the police-imposed ban on the French motion picture, "The Lovers" at the Heights Art Theater.

Common Pleas Court Judge J. P. Corrigan said yesterday he would not enjoin the police chief of Cleveland Heights "from the enforcement of the law if the police chief determines a law has been violated."

On orders of Police Chief Edward F. Gaffney the film was confiscated Friday night and the theater manager, Nico Jacobellis, was arrested and charged with exhibiting and possessing an obscene film.

There was no ruling on whether the film is obscene in parts, as the chief contends.

Bennett Kleinman, attorney for the theater, argued during the one-hour hearing that future arrests and seizures by the chief would be unconstitutional censorship by a police official.

He noted that the same picture was being shown now in Toledo, Columbus, Washington, Los Angeles, New York, Memphis, Detroit and Louisville. It had been approved by New York censors, he declared.

King A. Wilmut, Cleveland Heights law director, asserted the police chief was within his right "to arrest and seize when he believes the law has been broken."

Meanwhile, in Cleveland Heights Municipal Court the charge against Jacobellis, the theater manager, was continued until Nov. 25. If convicted, Jacobellis, 37, could be fined up to $5,000 or imprisoned for seven years, or both under the maximum penalty.

Budget

tary share is the big one—roughly half.

The defense budget may go a bit higher, too.

Eisenhower went over military spending plans Monday with Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy. Budget director Maurice H. Stans and eight other Washington officials. The outcome was a tentative agreement to give the armed services a little more money and the Navy and Air Force a little less manpower.

This would mean that military spending would cross from a little below 41 billion dollars for the current fiscal year to a little above for next year. It would mean a small cut in military personnel which now stands at about 2½ million.

The trend is toward putting more reliance and cash into modern weapons rather than men in uniform; toward missiles rather than manned bombers.

Herter to Send Officer Into Panama

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department may send a high-ranking officer to Panama for conferences aimed at preventing a new outbreak of violence against U.S. citizens there.

An offer to dispatch the officer was made to Panama Monday by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who told of receiving reports "which indicate the threat of further violence."

Herter informed Ambassador Ricardo M. Arias of Panama in a 40-minute conference that the officer would discuss the current controversy with Panamanian officials. Herter did not say who might be sent.

The State Department released the secretary's remarks after the conference.

Violence erupted in Panama two weeks ago. During demonstrations Panamanians ripped down the U.S. flag at the embassy, stoned the U.S. Information Agency building, and attacked private American business offices. The violence ended with 63 Panamanians wounded.

One of the problems involves the sovereignty of the Canal Zone, which some Panamanians feel should belong to their country, not the United States.

In addition, Arias has accused the United States of not carrying out the 1955 Remon-Eisenhower treaty, which pledges this country to pay Panamanians as much as Americans for work in the Canal Zone. The United States says it is complying.

Circulation

odically orders new books to replace those which haven't been read in the last 10 years.

The selection of books is large for a city the size of Salem. Catalogued into the library, Hafer states, are 44,600 books. And the library hopes to buy another 3,000 volumes next year.

When Hafer came here the circulation figures for that year showed more adult books being read than children's books.

This trend has been reversed, so that thousands more children's books are in circulation now than adult books. An important factor in the change is the increased emphasis on the library's work through two schools, Prospect and Buckeye, which are considered a little too far from the library. Staff members each week take a load of books to the schools to permit the children to make selections there.

Between 250 and 300 books a week are being read by the youngsters who participate in this program, Hafer says.

Adults, like children, seem to prefer fiction to any other type of reading material offered by the library. Approximately 56 per cent of the books taken from the shelves by adult readers — those above eighth grade — are fiction.

How many people are reading books lent by the library?

There are 5,815 library card carriers, Hafer says, a jump of 414 over last year and 1,465 more than there were five years ago.

Assisting the librarian in helping the readers select books and find reference materials are Miss Betty Miller, assistant librarian; and Mrs. John Pastier, Mrs. A. E. Warrington and Mrs. Dorothy Middeker, circulation assistants.

Hafer will continue as librarian here until Jan. 1. He resigned recently, effective on that date, to accept a similar position at Newark, O.

chard Hill School. A feature of the evening is a white elephant and baked goods auction.

The hostesses are Mrs. Walter Ameling, Mrs. George Bell, Mrs. Clayton Ayers, Mrs. Edwin Baird and Mrs. Percy Boston.

Ten tables of 500 were in play at the card party sponsored by the Rebekah Lodge Saturday evening. High score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Elizabeth Greenwood of Youngstown, Mrs. Arthur Wisler, Columbiana, Mrs. Jane Kegelmeyer and Adin Harman of Leetonia. Special prizes went to Mrs. Amanda Williamson, Mrs. Russell Smith and Bernard Straub of Leetonia. The next benefit will be held Nov. 19.

WOMEN OF THE Presbyterian Church will meet at the church to near Miss Dora Henry of North Benton tell of the work of the church in the Middle East where she has been. She will illustrate her talk with pictures she took while traveling there.

Harmony Class of the Methodist Church met at the parsonage Sunday evening with 11 members present. Rev. Robert Ferguson had charge of the business session. The evening was spent in working on baskets and other items made of mat sticks. Proceeds from the sale of the items will be put in the fund to place flowers on the church altar each Sunday.

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting which will be a Christmas party at the home of Richard Kyser, Sunday, Dec. 20 at 7:30 p.m. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

The Rev. William L. Woodall, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, preached the afternoon sermon at the Ohio Presbyterian Home in Youngstown Sunday.

Hays' Adopted Baby Can't Share in Estate

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Supreme Court has let stand a Belmont County court decision holding that the German baby adopted by U.S. Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing could not share in the estate of the late Walter L. Hays.

The elder Hays died March 27, 1957, two days after Rep. Hays and his wife filed an adoption petition for Martha Brigitta Hays.

Walter Hays' will stated that "if at the time of my decease there are any other grandchildren living by adoption or birth," they should share equally in the estate. There were five grandchildren at the time.

The high courtaction reaffirmed the common pleas court decision which held Martha Hays had not been adopted when Walter Hays died and could not share in the estate. The adoption was not final until April 29, 1957.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Some of the heat which should be blistering the racketeers is being lost in a feud between two of President Eisenhower's Cabinet members. Attorney General William Rogers and Labor Secretary James Mitchell have been tossing some hot words at each other in private conversations about just which department now has the right to go after the mobs still clutching some unions.

Bill Rogers, the Cabinet's youngest member and an old associate of racket-buster Tom Dewey, has no intention of losing this one.

What Jim Mitchell wants is practically exclusive right to enforce the new labor reform law. This could well keep the Justice Department from free use of its Organized Crime and Racketeering Section, the new anti-trust tactics and the Hobbs Act which prohibits labor extortion.

It should be recalled that when Rogers took office he listed as an immediate objective "the prosecution of labor racketeering cases."

YET JIM MITCHELL has told him bluntly that the new law gives the Labor Department the right to most of the field. The labor secretary wants the attorney general to wait until he has probed a case and sent a report up to the Justice Department.

This means that the Justice Department would have to wait on Labor Department investigators, just as it waits for the Internal Revenue Service to send along a case for prosecution.

Privately Rogers has said "nuts" to this. It would take the Justice Department a second class agency on this front.

A survey by this column discloses that it was never congressional intention to handcuff the Justice Department.

Those who wrote and passed the law merely intended to create a new weapon against the mobs moving into some unions. Yet Mitchell wants the President to tell Rogers to stay out of the jurisdiction. What Mr. Eisenhower's decision will be no one yet knows.

UNDER THE NEW LAW, which begins rolling into effect this month Mitchell does have enormous power.

Under Section 601, Mitchell can seize any books he wants, and walk into any premises he believes ought to be probed. He may even start investigating before any crime is committed.

Furthermore, under 601-B — and this has been completely overlooked — he U.S. secretary of labor can grant immunity to witnesses.

This means they can't take "The Fifth." This means they must produce all books, papers, records, documents, minutes of meetings and even notes of conversations.

But — an elephantine "but" it is — the law says that "the secretary may report to interested persons or officials concerning the facts." What this section means is that the labor secretary can withhold information.

The law uses the word "may." He may not want to pass on what he has found. Or he may not think that there should be prosecution.

Nowhere does the law say that the labor secretary must send case up for Justice Department action. Thus it is up to whoever is the labor secretary.

If Jim Mitchell wins this fight, and precedent is set, it will be the labor secretary of future administrations as well as this one who will decide whether federal action is taken.

Rogers has been arguing that as the nation's chief prosecutor, he has the right to go after any criminal anywhere he finds him. And that's exactly what he plans to do. For which, hooray. Two crime busters are better than one.

Now let's get on with that "team" we hear so much about.

CARBONS UPHELD
CHEYENNE, Wyo. — The validity of a signed and witnessed carbon copy of a man's will has been upheld by the Wyoming Supreme Court.

The court overruled a district court decision that wills executed by Charles L. Stringer of Gillette in 1932 and 1934 were invalid.

EATS HIS "HAT" — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell nibbles a piece of hat-shaped cake in Washington. He is fulfilling a pledge that he would eat his hat if unemployment reached three million in October. It did.

because they were carbon copies, although duly signed and witnessed.

"There is no special virtue in typing by imprint through inked ribbon than through a piece of carbon paper," Justice Harry Harnsberger ruled.

Quakers, East Liverpool Tied for 7th Place In AP Poll

Massillon Slips to 2nd Spot;
Canfield Jumps Into 21st;
Lowellville, E. Palestine 43rd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Springfield's Wildcats today rode a 13-game winning streak into first place in The Associated Press high school football poll.

For the first time this season Massillon's mighty Tigers were out of the top spot.

On the 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, 16 radio-television voters gave the Wildcats of Coach Lowell Storm a 133 to 100-point edge, while 27 newspapermen favored Springfield 227 to 215. That gave the Clark County team a total of 360 to Massillon's 315. Of the 43 votes cast, 15 were from the southern half of the state.

The state championship, and possession of the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy emblematic of the title, will be decided in next week's final poll.

Springfield has completed its campaign with nine straight wins, but Massillon, also with nine in a row, goes against Canton McKinley's 6-3 Bulldogs Saturday.

Springfield's climb to the peak has been a steady one. In the opening poll the Wildcats were rated fifth. In the second they moved up to fourth. They climbed to third in the next, and to second the following week, where they stayed for four straight weeks. Ohio League record of 126 set by Springfield for four straight weeks.

Storm, in his two seasons with the Springfield team, has an 18-1 record. The Wildcats wound up Friday night with a 59-0 win over Hamilton Taft, for their first unbeaten-until season since 1952.

Hotshots of the team are Howard Murphy and Tom Fugate, each of whom scored 132 points this year to erase the Greater Ohio League record of 126 set by Springfield's Ron Burton, now Northwestern's ace back.

Elyria, Salem and Canton Central moved into the Top 10 this week as Lorain, Martins Ferry and Cleveland East dropped out. The wave of voting changed the rating of all the others in the elite list.

From Here and There

Springfield's 360-point total is the biggest in the poll this year. Massillon's best was 353 in the Oct. 27 ratings. Of the 43 first place votes, Springfield picked up 19 and Massillon 15. The Wildcats were given points on all 43 ballots, but the Tigers missed out on one.

Akron Garfield, with a 6-1-1 record, was beaten 36-18 by Massillon on a muddy field. No other team has scored more than one touchdown against the Tigers, and Coach Babe Flossie of the losers said:

"Leo Strang has the finest Massillon club we've ever played against."

After the game the Garfield dressing room called for a doctor. One of the boys was somewhat dizzy from a blow on the head, and when the doctor asked the standard "Do you know where you are?" question, the youngster blinked a couple of times and answered:

"I must be in Massillon. That's the only place they hit so hard."

Canton Central plays Youngstown East this week—but already has its best season chalked up. Parma edged Berea 6-0 for its 19th straight win and its second straight perfect season, while Cleveland East dropped Akron Hoban 20-18 for its eighth win against one tie.

Martins Ferry will have its first unbeaten season since 1948 if it gets by Bellaire (5-4) Saturday. The latter has won its last three, including a 34-16 verdict over previously unbeaten Dover.

Toronto suffered its first loss, 36-6 to East Liverpool, as Bob Mackall, Potter quarterback, scored twice for a 100-point total. Cincinnati Purcell churned its record to 8-1 with a 20-14 win over Cincinnati Elder.

Fremont Ross, trounced 76-6 a week ago by Marion Harding, won its second game of the year by 38-6 over Bedford, with halfback Jim Ohms scoring on a 63-yard run, an 88-yard return of an intercepted pass, and on a 33-yard pass-run play.

Tony Datilo scored in every game for 136 points as Hamilton Catholic won nine straight. Tony counted 136 of the team's 322 points. Hamilton Taft has dropped nine in a row.

Lorain Clearview ran its victory string to 17 under Coach Paul Amadio with a 70-0 win over Margaretta. John McCaslin scored 30 of the points to take the Lorain County scoring laurels with 136 for the year, eight ahead of Dennis Provenza who got 24 against Margaretta.

Marietta's 9-0 record is the best in its history, and the first undefeated campaign since the 1918 team won four in the war-canceled season. After losing 10 of 12, he Marietta club has now won 12 straight.

Marion Harding's Pete Porietis scored both touchdowns in the 14-6 nod over Sandusky, giving him 182 points for the year. For the last three seasons Marion has a 24-2-1 record.

Salem closed with a 38-0 win over Girard for an 8-1 season, the lone loss being to a Pennsylvania school. Salem posted seven shutouts in allowing only 22 points.

Dave Collins scored five touchdowns for Bellville in a 54-14 win over West Jefferson. Gary Crum of Cardington ran his season's total to 213 points with three touchdowns against Mifflin, his team's 13th straight win coming by a 38-8 score. Shelby made it nine in a row, 14-0 over Mansfield Madison, while Jerry Harbaugh of Crestline threw his 13th touchdown pass in the 14-8 victory over Bucyrus.

How They Stack Up

Six Letterwinners Back

The 1959-60 basketball picture at Fairfield-Waterford High School looks bright, according to Coach Bing Newton.

Six letterwinners are back from last year's young squad which won 10 and lost nine contests. From a 10-man varsity roster Coach Newton is almost certain to come up with a starting five which averages over six feet.

The returning letterwinners are Tom Mentz, 5-11 senior; Lee Chamberlain, 6-2, senior; Jim Olmhausen, 6-3, senior; Clarence Kantal, 5-11, junior; Ross Dillon, 6-3, junior; and Larry Peppel, 5-11, junior.

Coach Newton has already elevated to the varsity big Jim Kress, a 6-5 freshman. Other boys given a chance for a starting berth are Tom Messinger, 5-11, junior; Ray Brown, 5-11, sophomore; and Wayne Blosser, 5-11, sophomore.

Coach Newton is a graduate of Leetonia High School and Kent State University. He will be assisted this season by Bruce Weber, Pat Frazzini and Dave Habaeger. The Rebels open their 17 game schedule at home Dec. 4 with North Lima in an Inter-County League fray. Fairfield-Waterford will play eight games at home and nine on the road. Their schedule is as follows:

Dec. 4, North Lima, home	Dec. 11, Western Reserve, away
Dec. 12, Salineville, away	Dec. 15, Leetonia, home

Browns Packing 'Quite a Wallop'

CLEVELAND (APA) — Coach Paul Brown put it tersely when he said the Cleveland Browns' offense now has "quite a wallop."

The Browns have tremendous balance. They can send fullback Jimmy Brown blasting up the middle, or start halfback Bobby Mitchell streaking around the ends, or have quarterback Milt Plum tossing accurate passes to his speedy receivers—Ray Renfro, Billy Howton, Preston Carpenter.

Any of these weapons is capable of producing the "home run" play, an explosive touchdown from any spot on the field.

The Browns, tied with the New York Giants (both 6-2) for the lead in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League, are riding a five-game winning string. They have averaged 33 points for their last four contests.

When the Washington Redskins stacked their defense to stop fullback Brown, they left Mitchell free to roll up 232 yards and three touchdowns in the 31-17 victory Sunday.

Several League Changes Foreseen

Inter-County Loop Paced by Canfield

All Inter-County League clubs closed their season last week and once again it was the Canfield Cardinals who dominated the loop.

The unbeaten Cardinals finished with a 5-0-0 league mark to edge Lowellville by a half-game. A 6-6 tie with Goshen kept the Rockets from sharing the title.

This marked the final season for Canfield in the Inter-County League. The Cardinals will either join another league or go independent to enable them to play a stronger schedule. Indications are there will be several other changes in the league before the 1960 football season rolls around.

There has been some discussion about breaking the league into two divisions with the larger schools being separated from the smaller ones. A trophy would be awarded to the winner of each division under this plan.

Two of the teams in the league failed to win a game this year. They are Jackson-Milton and Western Reserve. Western Reserve was making its first venture into varsity football.

Canfield had the top scoring team in the league. Coach Bob Winterburn's outfit rolled up 202 points in just five league games. Lowellville posted the best defensive mark, yielding only 21 points in eight games.

The outstanding player in the league was halfback Jim Albert of Canfield. The 175-pound senior picked up over 1,000 yards on the ground and scored 24 touchdowns to put him far in front of anyone else in the loop.

Final league and season records are as follows:

FINAL LEAGUE RECORD
Team	W	L	T	Pts	Opps	Pct.
Canfield	5	0	0	202	36	1.000
Lowellville	7	0	1	161	21	.938
Greenford	6	2	0	229	90	.750
Springfield L.	4	2	0	106	45	.687
McDonald	4	3	0	192	128	.571
Goshen	3	1	1	114	136	.417
North Lima	2	6	1	112	192	.250
P. Waterford	1	4	0	62	144	.200
J. Milton	0	6	1	87	225	.071
W. Reserve	0	5	0	22	250	.000

Against non-league opposition, the Big Ten stands 14-5, discounting one tie. If Michigan State defeats Miami of Florida and Iowa downs Notre Dame this weekend, the record will be 16-5.

This mark would be the second finest in more than a decade. In 1956 the Big Ten bowled over outside competition 19 times in 24 games.

Three years ago the Big Ten adopted the program of financial aid on a basis of need. A cry went up that the better football players would go to schools outside the conference.

This may be true. But while the plan definitely has leveled off competition within the league, it has not injured Big Ten strength against independents and teams from other leagues.

In fact, the Big Ten is enjoying a greater success against outside Big Ten has amassed a 64-23 record against non-league teams. One fact is significant in Big Ten football these days and that is the have-nots are riding high. Northwestern, which is fighting for the championship this weekend, has been a doormat for years.

Indiana, another toughie, was alongside Northwestern. In fact, two years ago neither Indiana nor Northwestern won a single conference game.

S.&B. Greenhouses Nips Salem Stamping

Meissner's Sohio continued its grip on first place in the city Class A Basketball League by winning its third straight game 65-52 over Industrial Mining Monday at the Memorial Building.

S & B Greenhouses broke into the victory column after one defeat with a 42-38 win over Salem Stamping. It was the third straight defeat for Stamping.

Wayne Walters hooped 25 points for Meissner's to run his league-leading total to 59 for three games. John Sturgeon chipped in with 15 for the winners.

Gene Kitzmiller helped keep Industrial Mining in the game with a 21 point effort. Kitzmiller is sporting a 22.5 average for two games. Industrial had won its opener last week by a whopping 75-49 score over Mesmer Coal.

The low-scoring Stamping-S & B tilt had only three players hit in double figures. Dave Roller of S & B led both teams with 13 points. Dave Williams collected 12 and Vaughn Harshman 10 for the losers.

OSU, Michigan Figure to Be Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State and Michigan, both closing out a disappointing season, figure to be "up" for their clash Saturday at Ann Arbor.

Buckeye boss Woody Hayes sums it up:

"The game is tremendously important to both squads and both will go into the game with the attitude that all's well that ends well."

The two teams have similar records, Ohio 3-4-1 over-all and 2-3-1 in Big Ten play, Michigan 3-5 on the season and 2-4 in the conference.

Hayes, finishing out his worst season in nine years, promised that the Bucks "will go up there and give it all we've got."

Ohio scout Esco Sarkkinen told writers Monday that Michigan is waging a "typical November rush."

Sarkkinen said the Michigan offense is a carbon copy of Iowa "in what they try." Iowa whipped the Buckeyes last Saturday, 16-7.

The bruised Bucks have several key players on the injured list and it is doubtful that fullback Bob White will play. He will make the trip to Ann Arbor, though.

Other doubtful starters include halfbacks Jim Herbstreit and Bill Wentz and guard Ernie Wright.

In their last 65 games, Chicago White Sox pitchers turned in 22 complete games.

Co-Captains Phillis, Chappell Paced Salem In Offensive, Defensive Statistics

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Co-captains Fred Phillis and Ned Chappell led the Salem Quakers in major offensive and defensive statistics for the 1959 football season.

Phillis rushed for 228 yards in the final game of the season against Girard to pull him around fullback Pete Schmauch for team ground gaining honors. Schmauch held the lead most of the season.

Chappell was credited with 47 tackles, enough to edge out junior guard Freddy Harshman by six. These figures do not include the numerous tackling assists in the defensive standouts turned in.

Two other rugged defensive performers, juniors Ronnie Janovec and Don Davidson, finished third and fourth, respectively, in the number of tackles made. Chappell and Janovec were both linebackers. Davidson worked at both end positions.

PHILLIS, A 175-POUND senior, piled up 977 yards rushing in 122 carries for an eight-yard-pertry average. Last year's team rushing leader, Ralph Ehrhart, accounted for 959 yards in 120 carries which is also an eight-yard average.

Schmauch this year rambled for 862 yards in 147 carries. His average was 5.9 yards per try. Last year's fullback, Lou Slaby, also had a 5.9 average with 663 yards gained in 113 carries.

Phillis and Schmauch finished one-two in scoring. The halfback chalked up an even 100 points while Schmauch contributed 76.

Quarterbacks Vince Horning and Gary Devan gave the Quakers a big edge over all foes in the passing department. The pair passed for a total of 900 yards, with senior Horning seeing most of the action.

Horning completed 39 of 82 tosses for 767 yards and six touchdowns. Only three of his passes were intercepted. Devan completed eight of 20 passes but had five intercepted.

TOP RECEIVERS were the ends Davidson and Charlie Horn. Together, the pair accounted for 567 yards and five touchdowns. Davidson averaged 16.9 yards for 18 catches and Horn had a whopping 32.9-yard average. Davidson, a 6-4 junior, specialized in short quick pass plays while the speedy Horn was a master of the screen pass.

Salem's two cornermen, Horn and Horning, led the team in pass interceptions. Horn picked off five enemy aerials while Horning received credit for four thefts.

In rolling to eight victories in nine games, the Quakers outscored their opponents 292-22. This was the best defensive mark posted by a Salem team in 49 years. The 1910 squad limited five opponents to 13 points.

Eight of the nine games played this year by the Quakers resulted in shutouts. The Quakers were shut out 14-0 in the fourth game of the season at Ambridge, Pa. Salem recorded seven shutouts in its eight victories.

THE BOARDMAN Spartans were the only Ohio team to score against Coach Earle Bruce's defense-minded eleven. They scored eight points but went down to a 9-8 defeat at Reilly Stadium.

The Quakers dominated all major statistics. They more than tripled the net ground gaining total of all opponents and more than doubled the passing yardage. An indication of how Salem dominated their foes is shown by the huge advantage they had in the number of plays run from scrimmage. Salem controlled the ball for 547 plays, compared to 440 for all opponents.

The Quakers will open the 1960 season against Leetonia with a five-game winning streak. Over the past three seasons, Salem has recorded 24 wins against only four losses.

Coach Bruce's four-year record at Salem now stands at 28 victories and nine defeats.

Columbiana, Lisbon Face Opponents

Tri-County Squads To Play Final Tilts

Three Tri-County League teams will be in action this week to bring down the curtain on the 1959 football season.

Louisville, which last week lost all chances of tying for the league lead when they were held to an 0-0 standoff by Minerva, must beat Columbiana Friday night to keep from slipping from second place.

If the Clippers manage to pull an upset at Louisville the Leopards will slide into a third place tie with Minerva. The Lisbon Blue Devils would then move back into second place with a 5-2-0 record.

Louisville is 4-1-1 in league play. Columbiana is mired in seventh place with a 1-5-0 mark.

LISBON WINDS up at home against Wellsville, a non-league foe. The Bengals have a 5-3-1 record, their best mark in more than a decade. However, much of the Bengals' success has resulted from playing a lighter schedule this year. Lisbon should hand Wellsville its fourth loss.

The up and down Bengals two weeks ago dropped a 6-2 decision to Beaver Local. But, last week Wellsville slaughtered Mingo 48-22. Salem owns a 50-0 victory over Wellsville, but the Bengals were without their star fullback, Bob Delposen, for that game. The big fullback is sure to cause the Blue Devils plenty of trouble Friday.

Bowling Green, Ohio U. to Clash

Only MAC Contest This Week To Decide '59 Championship

BOWLING GREEN — The final and only Mid-American Conference game this week will settle the 1959 MAC championship.

Two former Ohio State assistant coaches, Doyt Perry of Bowling Green and Bill Hess of Ohio U. will bring their teams together at Ohio U. in a Dad's Day clash.

Unbeaten Bowling Green with eight straight has already clinched a tie for the championships while the Bobcats, beaten 24-0 by Miami, need a victory in order to share the crown. Bowling Green topped Miami 33-16 earlier.

A win would give the Falcons their second MAC crown in Perry's five years at BG. They won it in 1956 when a 7-7 tie with Miami helped to pave the way to the initial gridiron championship.

Both teams are working toward banner seasons. The Falcons need a win to have the first unbeaten season in BG's 41 year gridiron history. Likewise, an OU victory would give the Bobcats their best season since the unbeaten 1935 team that rolled over Illinois.

Two other MAC teams finish up the season on Saturday also. Marshall moves up to Buffalo where the New York eleven is enjoying another excellent season, having lost only to Bucknell in eight contests.

After a week's rest, Kent State will windup at home, entertaining the University of Louisville. The Cardinals were nailed by Ohio U. 22-15 last week. A Kent win would give the Golden Flashes a 5-3 season.

Then the only game remaining for MAC teams would be the 64th annual big rival contest between Miami and Cincinnati on Thanksgiving Day in the Queen City.

Orange Remain 1st In AP Poll

Ole Miss Grabs Second Position

By The Associated Press

Syracuse continued its magic of managing to be more and more impressive with each game and marked its second straight week as the No. 1 college football team in the nation today — unbeaten, untied and unchallenged in The Associated Press poll.

The Orange, with two regular season games left before a New Year's Day date in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, were named first on 126 of the 253 ballots cast by sportswriters and sportscasters for almost a 2-1 margin over runner-up Mississippi.

They did it by whipping expected pushover Colgate by an unexpected 71-0 to retain the No. 1 berth they gained in a seven-week rise from 20th.

The rankings, determined by total points awarded on a basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc., show Syracuse with 2,145 points to 1,859 for Mississippi, which drew 68 first place votes.

Ole Miss moved up from fifth in a swap with Texas after the Longhorns were handed their first defeat, 14-9, by Texas Christian. Louisiana State, which tumbled to third a week ago after a 14-13 upset by Tennessee, remained No. 3 behind Mississippi — whose lone loss was to LSU (7-3). Ole Miss walloped Tennessee 33-7 last Saturday.

Southern California, matching Syracuse's 8-0 record as the only perfect-record club left among the majors, stayed fourth.

Georgia jumped to sixth from 12th after beating Auburn 14-13. Penn State, beaten only by Syracuse (20-18), moved from 10th to seventh, while Northwestern and Wisconsin each dropped two places, to eighth and ninth, after suffering their second defeats. TCU, also a two-time loser, shot up to 10th from 18th for its job on Texas.

The top ten with first place votes in parentheses:

E. Furnace, Deming Win In Basketball

Deming and Electric Furnace broke on top of the Salem Adult Volleyball League Monday in season openers at the Memorial Building.

BETTER VIEW

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (NEA) — Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty was discussing the stone wall defense which stopped Notre Dame and Indiana inches short of touchdowns.

"I like those goal line stands of ours," he said, "but I wish they'd make 'em up around the 50-yard line, where I can see 'em better."

The Cincinnati Reds will play 13 exhibition games against American League teams next spring. They will meet National League rivals 10 times.

NOT FOR HIM—Sammy Oates is in his second terrific season with Hardin-Simmons. There are lots of cheers for the pass-catching end, but he doesn't hear them. The sophomore is both deaf and dumb.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm so ashamed that I must get help from someone who doesn't know us. We've been married 13 years and have four wonderful kids. I just learned I'm pregnant again and my husband is burned up.

He says we can't afford another child and we must give the new baby to an agency that will pay the hospital bill.

I'm not thrilled about the new baby but I couldn't bear to give it away. This seems animal-like. My husband already has asked a few relatives and friends if they "want a baby." They look at him as he's crazy. No one takes him seriously.

Our children are healthy, well behaved and good in school. They never give us trouble. He says, "Four is enough for anybody." Please help me. I'm getting very nervous over this.—ZYX.

Dear ZYX: Tell Clattertrap to shut his mouth because he's making himself look ridiculous. Make it plain you have no intention of giving up the baby and that the issue is closed.

He'll feed and clothe the fifth child just as he did the fourth and in a year he'll wonder how he ever thought of doing anything else.

Giftless Greeting

Dear Ann: I'm a high school sophomore who has been dating a swell guy for three months. You might say we were going steady.

My 16th birthday was last week and he didn't give me a gift. He phoned and sang happy birthday. I had hoped he'd give me an ID bracelet or something personal. I felt hurt and cried half the night.

My mother says he's inconsiderate and I shouldn't waste any more time on him. Dad says we place too much importance on gifts and to forget it. What do you say? —DAMP EYES.

Dear Damp Eyes: I'm with Dad.

Phon-Atic

Dear Ann: I suppose I'm terrible but I need advice.

Our 16-year-old daughter is popular, full of mischief and has lots of friends, both boys and girls. She discovered the telephone at 13 and by the time she was 15 no one could get our line after 4 p.m. We decided last December to give her a private telephone for Christmas.

Her grades are just fair because she "doesn't have time to study and keep up with her homework." Yet she's on the phone for hours every night. Last night she talked and giggled on that darn phone till past midnight. This morning I had to pull her out of bed to go to school. What shall I do now? —QUANDARYITE.

Dear Quandaryite: Phones can be removed as well as installed. It's done every day.

Tell Madame Yak she must abide by a few rules or lose the phone altogether.

1. No call should last more than 20 minutes. Anything not mentioned within 20 minutes can't be very important.

2. There should be no talking on the phone after 11 p.m. If the phone rings after that hour she must tell the party she can't talk and will return the call tomorrow.

3. Trust her to keep a record of her phone time. Tell her it cannot exceed a total of one hour or out it goes.

In Lump Sum

Dear Ann: Three months ago my husband surprised me with a lovely fur cape for my birthday. I thought it was all paid for. Yesterday a nasty man from a finance company came to see me. My husband owes $130 on the fur cape.

We haven't got the money and I don't know where we can get it within 15 days, which is the limit. The man got snippy and we argued a good bit. I told him the fur had been worn and that he couldn't get blood out of a turnip. What can the finance company do? —BURN.

Dear Burnt: They could take the turnip.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Think Before Transferring Property It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

Taking a cue from the old-time farmer, more and more men these days are transferring all of their assets into their wives' names.

Why? And, importantly, is this permissible under the letter of the law?

The "why" is not dissimilar to the reasoning down on the farm. If the crop was profitable for a year or two by transferring those profits to mama, Uncle Hayseed could, when a poor year came, go into bankruptcy with the comforting knowledge that mama could support him while his creditors wept.

TODAY, IT IS OFTEN the professional man that uses this device and his chief reason is that if he were sued (say a physician for malpractice) his assets would be nil, yet his family would be provided for.

Is this practical? In this day of frequent divorce, it is inspiring to learn that some men still have confidence in their wives. Yet, the question of tax evasion arises as well as the question of a deliberate attempt to avoid creditors.

Tax attorneys and trust officers offer a host of observations. They point out that a wife may predecease her husband and in such a case he would suffer an estate tax on money that rightfully was his.

They warn that if a court can prove that the husband's property was transferred to deliberately avoid creditors, the transfer would be disallowed. Also, there would be little point to transferring property if you reside in a state with a community property law.

THE EXPERTS also warn that it depends upon the total valuation of the property relinquished as to how such a shift might stand up in court. To get technical, it also depends upon the definition of what is capital and what is income. Where capital and property are involved, the federal gift tax consideration enters. Incidentally, the

Truman Gets AFL-CIO Award; Gives Advice

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The AFL-CIO gave Harry Truman a medal Monday night and got some advice in return.

The former president received the unions annual community service award—a bronze medallion and a $5,000 check.

Truman expressed his gratitude. Then, in an obvious reference to evidence of corruption in some unions, he said: "There is always trouble when people get too much money or too much power. The great thing about this country is that we are able to correct these situations and I know you are going to do it among yourselves. "You know what I am talking about."

I LOT FAILS TEST

CINCINNATI (AP)—Only one of 60 lots of cranberries tested by federal chemists here turned up traces of weed killer aminothiazole says Samuel Allend, Food and Drug Administration chief here. Allend said of 70 lots brought here for tests, "we know 60 are all right," and the rest are still under study.

APPEAL FILED

CINCINNATI (AP)—Attorneys for teen-ager Huston Nelson appealed Monday to the First District State Appellate Court from his conviction and death sentence on a first-degree murder charge. A three-judge court convicted Nelson, 17, in the holdup-killing of Mrs. Bernice Wilson, 61, a drug-store operator. Nelson was sentenced to die next Feb. 29.

gift tax is at a lower rate than that imposed upon estates or inheritances.

The basic federal tax rules to remember before making such a gift are:

Because of the marital deduction one-half of any gift a husband makes to his wife is made tax-free. Each one of us has a lifetime exemption of $30,000, and an annual exclusion of $3,000 which must be used up before any federal gift taxes are payable.

Thus, a husband can give his wife $66,000 without paying any gift taxes. One-half, $33,000 is excluded because of the marital deduc-tion; $30,000 is excluded because of his lifetime exemption; $3,000 is excluded because of the annual exclusion. Total; $66,000.

In instances where a taxable gift is made and a gift tax is not paid, I'm told real trouble can come. In such cases the husband may be penalized for fraud and be required to pay the gift tax plus 6 per cent or more interest for each year of delinquency.

If you've an itch to juggle considerable assets, do so only upon consultation with experts on the laws of taxation. And these are the experts that are the hardest to find!

Dear Ann Landers: Here's advice for you!

A couple of weeks ago, Ann, your column featured this letter from "Chicago Pop" with your reply:

Dear Ann: If more people would cut their kids' hair at home, maybe we could get the barber prices down where they belong. I'm the father of three young sons. We live in Chicago. Every other Saturday the four of us go for haircuts. It costs $1.75 for each boy. Mine is $2. I'm almost completely bald. The barber usually gets me out of his chair in 9 minutes. My 7- and 8-year-olds have crew cuts. Last week I timed them. They were out of the chair in 13 and 15 minutes each. The 5-year-old takes 15 minutes. The barber gets $7.25.

We take a bus both ways. This little excursion chews a $10 bill to pieces. Maybe if you hear from a whole slew of outraged fathers who are tired of getting clipped, we can get the price of haircuts down to where they make sense. —CHICAGO POP

Dear Chicago Pop: I've already heard from a slew of outraged fathers. I'm willing to print a solution to this problem if someone will come up with one.

A solution to the problem, Ann? A Supreme Electric Home Hair-cutter! If "Chicago Pop" can comb his sons' hair, he can give them perfect haircuts at home with a Supreme the very first time in just about 15 minutes. And we mean perfect. Professional-looking trim at side and back—even neat crew cuts—and all with no "bowl head" look.

What's more, if "Chicago Pop" spends $10 every two weeks for haircuts, that adds up to $260 a year. The Supreme Home Haircutting Kit shown here—complete with precision electric clipper, 4 attachment guides, an apron, comb, shears, instruction chart and barber's brush—the entire kit retails for just $14.95. That's a saving of over $200 a year. (That'll buy a lot of shoes, baseball bats, and ice cream cones for 3 boys.)

"Chicago Pop" and that whole "slew of outraged fathers" owe it to themselves to see and try the Supreme Electric Hair Clipper now. On sale at Drug, Department and Hardware Stores. Good advice, Ann?
